

Regulations for the Doctor of Philosophy Degree Program in Political Economy, Taipei School of Economics and Political Science (TSE), National Tsing-Hua University

Approved by TSE Administrative Committee on October 9, 2024
Revised by 113-1 TSE Curriculum Committee on April 16, 2025

Article 1: Legal Basis

This regulation is established in accordance with the “National Tsing Hua University Academic Regulations,” the “National Tsing Hua University Doctoral Degree Exam Statutes,” and other relevant regulations.

Article 2: Duration of Study

A doctoral degree program must be completed within the duration of two to seven years.

Article 3: Course Requirements

- I. Ph.D. Students must complete a minimum of 30 credits of coursework approved by the Taipei School of Economics and Political Science (hereinafter referred to as “TSE”), excluding dissertation credits.
- II. International Ph.D. students must complete 8 credits of Mandarin courses before graduation. Credits for Mandarin courses are not counted within the minimum 30 credits of coursework required for the degree. Relevant regulations are addressed in accordance with the “Mandarin Course Requirements for NTHU International Students.”
- III. Ph.D. students must complete the “National Tsing Hua University Online Academic Research Ethics Education Course.”

Article 4: Graduation Requirements

- I. Ph.D. Core Knowledge Examination
 1. Examination Subjects: Political Science or Economics, depending on the chosen track.
 2. Examination Schedule: The examination will take place during the Fall semester of the second academic year. Ph.D. students who do not pass may retake the exam once in the Spring semester of the same academic year.
 3. Deadline for Passing the Core Knowledge Examination: Ph.D. students who do not achieve the passing standard (70 points) in any subject may apply for a retake, limited to one retake per subject. Students must pass the core knowledge examination (including retakes) within two academic years, excluding any leave of absence periods.
- II. Ph.D. Qualification Examination
 1. Eligibility: Ph.D. students who pass the core knowledge examination and complete the course of Quantitative Methods II, or be on track to complete it by the end of the semester in which the Ph.D. Qualification Examination occurs.
 2. Ph.D. students may choose one of the following two methods for the qualification examination:
 - (1) Completing the Publication Requirements: Ph.D. students shall submit two publishable academic papers, and obtain approval from the review committee.
 - (2) Passing the Written Examinations: Ph.D. students shall pass two field examinations on two special fields of study.
 - a. Examination Schedule: The examination will be conducted every semester upon applications.
 - b. Ph.D. students who do not achieve the passing standard (70 points) in any field examinations may apply for a retake, limiting to one retake in each field.

3. Deadline for passing the Qualification Examination: Ph.D. students must pass the qualification examination (including retakes) within three academic years, excluding any leave of absence periods. Students who do not pass the qualification examination by the deadline will be dismissed from the Ph.D. program.

III. Ph.D. to Candidacy

A Ph.D. student who meets the following criteria will advance to a Ph.D. candidate:

- (1) Passed the Ph.D. qualification examination.
- (2) Completed all of the courses required for the doctoral degree program.
- (3) Passed the English language proficiency verification.

IV. Dissertation Proposal

1. Upon advancement to Ph.D. candidacy, students are qualified to proceed with a proposal of their doctoral dissertation for review. Approval from the advisor(s) is required for the submission of the proposal. At least one advisor must be a full-time associate professor or higher at TSE, or a jointly-appointed associate professor or higher at TSE.
2. Application for Dissertation Proposal Review: Ph.D. candidates must submit their applications at least four weeks before the date of proposal review.
3. Proposal Review Procedures: The dissertation proposal will be reviewed by a committee consisting of at least five members, including the advisor(s). At least one-third of the members must be external to National Tsing Hua University. The qualifications for committee members shall be in accordance with those stipulated by the Doctoral Degree Examination Committee below.

V. Doctoral Degree Examination

1. Ph.D. candidates who meet the following conditions are eligible to apply for the doctoral degree examination. They must submit their applications at least four weeks before the examination date, along with a draft of the dissertation (including an abstract), a copy of the transcript, the application form for the doctoral degree examination, and a report of the dissertation originality check:
 - (1) Completion of at least two academic years of study and advancement to Ph.D. candidacy.
 - (2) Completion of the dissertation proposal.
 - (3) Completion of a dissertation draft, with approval from the advisors.
2. Doctoral Degree Examination Committee
 - (1) The doctoral degree examination committee shall consist of five to nine members, including at least one-third of external members. The advisor is an ex officio member but may not serve as the chair in the examination. The chair is to be elected by the committee members attending the examination.
 - (2) Apart from expertise in the research field of the candidate, the committee member must meet one of the following qualifications:
 - a. Currently serving or has served as a professor or associate professor.
 - b. Currently serving or has served as an academician, research fellow, associate research fellow at Academia Sinica.
 - c. Holding a doctoral degree and has garnered notable academic achievements.
 - d. Having academic or professional achievements in a rare or highly specialized academic field or professional practice areas.

TSE establishes its own specific standards for points c and d.
3. The doctoral degree examination includes examination and review of the dissertation, which should be conducted publicly in the form of an oral defense, but may be held in an alternative format if deemed necessary.

4. The doctoral degree dissertation (including the abstract) should be written in English. A dissertation that has been used for the purpose of another degree does not qualify.
5. The dissertation examination grade should reflect the results of the oral defense and the written dissertation itself. The Examination Committee members who attend the dissertation examination will sign an “Examination Committee Member Verification Form” to complete the dissertation review. In instances where the dissertation examination committee requests a revision of the dissertation, the candidate should revise and submit it for approval by the committee accordingly. The revision and approval must be completed prior to the next semester’s registration date, or the said dissertation examination will be invalidated.
6. Ph.D. candidates who fail the doctoral degree examination before reaching the maximum study period may apply to take a re-examination in the next semester or next academic year. Candidates who fail the examination for the second time will be dismissed from the Ph.D. program.

Article 5: Conferring of Degree

Ph.D. candidates who have completed the graduation requirements, and whose Doctoral dissertation has been examined and approved by the Doctoral Degree Examination Committee will be conferred a Doctor of Philosophy degree by National Tsing Hua University.

Article 6: Other Provisions

Any matters not addressed in this regulation shall be handled in accordance with the relevant regulations of the Ministry of Education and the National Tsing Hua University Academic Regulations.
